Temporary Suspension of Production at Tadano Group Manufacturing Facilities (Update)

Tadano Ltd. will temporarily suspend production at the following plants in Japan due to forecasted interruptions in the delivery of certain parts from certain suppliers stemming from the semiconductor shortage that has been ongoing since last year, Russia's military invasion of Ukraine, and supply chain effects from the ongoing coronavirus lockdowns in China.

|                      |  |
|----------------------|--|
| Plant Name:          | Tadano Ltd. Kozai Plant (Kagawa, Japan)  |
| Main Plant Products: | Rough Terrain Cranes, Truck Cranes   |

|                      |  |
|----------------------|--|
| Plant Name:          | Tadano Ltd. Shido Plant (Kagawa, Japan)  |
| Dates:               | Additional temporary suspension* lasting approximately 5 days, with sequence and timing to be determined on a per production line basis, sometime during the period of May 16 th through May 30 th . |
| Main Plant Products: | Rough Terrain Cranes, All Terrain Cranes   |

*Previous temporary suspension dates (May 9th through May 13th) were announced in the company's April 19th press release.

Also due to shortages and delivery delays of certain parts, including semiconductors, and Russia's military invasion of Ukraine, temporary suspension of production for certain assembly lines at Tadano Demag GmbH and Tadano Faun GmbH (Tadano Group manufacturing companies in Germany) have been initiated as needed since April.

The business impact of this development is currently under review. Should there be any impact on our consolidated financial results, we will promptly disclose the relevant information.
